

North American Guqin Association

North American Guqin Association Artists Bios

50 words

Li Xiangting is a world-class guqin master and has performed throughout the world. He is a professor at the Central Conservatory of Music in Beijing and one of the National Representative Heirs to China's Intangible Culture.

Wang Fei is a renowned guqin performer and director of the North American Guqin Association. She has won several awards for Chinese music and has toured internationally. Her works were featured at many prestigious arts festivals. She has received honors from the NEA, the U.S. Department of State and the Library of Congress. Her music was included in an American textbook. See www.feiwang.com.

100 words

Wang Fei is a renowned guqin performer and director of the North American Guqin Association. Wang Fei began her study of the guqin under one of the great living guqin masters, Li Xiangting, in 1985. She has won several awards for Chinese music and has toured internationally. Her works were featured at many prestigious arts festivals. She has received honors from the National Endowment for the Arts, the U.S. Department of State, the Library of Congress, and the American Folklife Center. She has lectured at Stanford, UC Berkeley and UCLA. Her music was included in an American textbook. See www.feiwang.com.

Guest Artist Professor Li Xiangting is recognized as a world-class master. He has traveled extensively throughout the world to give over 50 guqin solo concerts, and has published numerous recordings and scholarly works. He is currently a distinguished professor of guqin at the Central Conservatory of Music in Beijing. The Chinese Ministry of Culture has recently declared him one of the ten National Representative Heirs to China's Intangible Culture. See www.guqin.org.